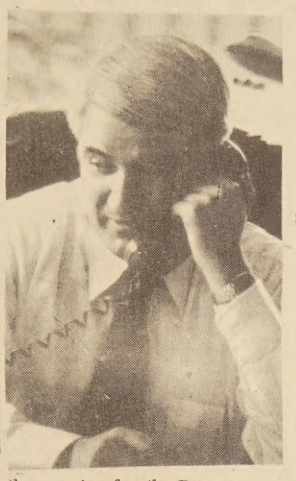
YOUR VOTE COULD NOMINATE THE NEXT GOVERNOR



With three major candidates currently in the running for the Democratic nomination for Governor, Central Area residents will have a real opportunity to choose the one who best represents our interests in next Tuesday's primary election.

Seattle Mayor Wes Uhlman has a long and proven record of concern for the problems facing our community. In 1971 Seattle became one of the nation's first cities to establish a department solely concerned with the problems of aging. This has resulted in a number of programs to provide our senior citizens with part-time jobs, recreational events, nutrition supplements, and minor home repairs. In addition to his support of the new senior centers, Wes has held down utility rates and obtained bus and taxi service discounts for the elderly.

In city government he has doubled the hiring of minority employees from 7.6% to 13.4%; and he is the first mayor to appoint minorities and women as major department heads. For youth he has supported the creation of a number of programs and; as Chairman of the King-Snohomish Manpower Consortium; directed an effort providing approximately 4000 summer jobs to minority youths from low-income families. In the face of major community problems and issues he has appointed a number of task forces to obtain the input of minority representatives and leaders. This type of access to the Governor's office; along with his commitment to appoint minorities and women to positions of responsibility with state commissions and departments; would constitute a real change for the social and economic betterment of our area.

In contrast to Mayor Uhlman his Democratic opponents, Dixy Lee Ray and Marvin Durning, have had little to say regarding the serious problems facing our state. Dr. Ray; who was considered important enough by Richard Nixon to be appointed head of the Atomic Energy Commission; seems to be primarily concerned with nuclear power and other forms of energy. Considering our serious problems in the areas of housing and employment this is not a very significant issue for residents of the Central Area.

Attorney Marvin Durning, on the other hand, has acquired a reputation for being some sort of environmentalist. While no one could seriously doubt the desirability of preserving our beautiful wilderness areas, those of us living in the inner city know the worst environmental problems lie in our own neighborhoods. Not only has Durning failed to address these problems, but his almost complete lack of experience in government creates a serious doubt regarding his ability to develop and administer a program designed to meet our specialized needs.

The preceeding covers only a few of the reasons why every Central Area resident should turn out to vote next Tuesday. For further information voters are urged to listen to Karen Denard's show Sunday from 12 to 2:00 p.m. on KYAC where all of the candidates will be interviewed and asked some hard questions on their plans for our community if elected Governor.

Tacoma Lodge Honors Olympic Participants

The Prince Hall Grand Lodge F & AM, Washington and its Jurisdiction, with the Caballeros Club, gave a reception is honor of boxing gold medalist Leo Randolph. Also honored at the reception was Miriam Smith, swimmer in the Olympics, Davey Armstrong and the Prince Hall Grand Lodge boxing team.

The reception was a big success and was attended by many city and county officials. Harold Moss was the master of ceremonies. The boxing team is sponsored by the Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Washington under the youth department of the Grand Junion Warden Charles Stubblefield.

PAYING THE DUES ON OUR SCHOOLS

For the second year in a row our schools are in a state of crisis. Already suffering from funding cuts and the consequent reduction in staffing, the schools began this year - or rather did not begin - with a teachers' strike.

There is a great temptation on the part of frustrated parents to criticize those teachers who have taken to the picket line, a reaction which is entirely understandable but not entirely fair. The teachers on the picket line this year are the very ones who voluntarily gave up the raise promised to them last year. They gave it up in the interest of keeping our beleagured schools operating at maximum efficiency. They struggled through a year of uncertainty as they saw their fellows laid off in batches of hundreds. They struggled with a dramatically elevated pupil-teacher ratio. They struggled with many of the more difficult students, newly transferred back into regular classrooms from now-defunct special services programs. They did it for the kids.

Now they are saying that they can't pay the dues on the crisis by themselves anymore.

To be sure, it's the children who are suffering. But it's going to take a lot more than a self-sacrificing group of educators to make things right. It's going to take big money. Somebody has got to foot the bill. What the teachers are saying is that it can't be them anymore. And what I am asking is: who is it going to be? It's time for all of us who benefit by living in a literate society to take a creative, innovative approach to school funding. The teachers are forcing the question. The kids are waiting. We've got to come up with some answers, and soon! RIGHT ON!

Spotlite on Beauty

THE FACTS takes pleausre in 'spotlighting' beautiful women. Pictured below is a model from the TOPAZ Modeling Agency.

DIANE is without question the world's most beautiful black woman. The only man in her life is her eight year old son. She likes music, sports and modeling. She stands 5'6" with her mind fixed on being the top black model in the business.

Re- Elect GEORGE SHERIDAN

YOUR COUNTY COMMISSIONER -Dist.-Two-Demo.

George Sheridan has fought and won battles for open government, equal rights, employment, law enforcement, senior citizen services, environmental protection, less government spending and making the Puget Sound Council of Governments more responsive.

George Sheridan has earned YOUR support because he represents and serves you well. He has established citizen advisory committees to allow more input to decisions. He represents YOU at legislative meetings to release state $ to local government to better serve you.

Let's ignore the fancy political slogans, expensive campaign advertising and negative campaign tactics of the challenger and face facts: Sheridan gets the job done for you. Because of his record of honest, fair, effective leadership, for his dedication to the quality of life for all citizens, and for his work for cooperation between city and county governments, we proudly endorse his bid for re-election as your County Commissioner Thank you for your vote.

Church News

The Senior Usher Board of Bethlehem Baptist Church in Tacoma will be celebrating their 30th Anniversary on Sunday, September 19th at 3:00 p.m. Rev. Melvin Darden of Tabernacle Baptist Church of Seattle and his choir and ushers are in charge of the service. The public is invited to attend. Rev. Robert H. Davis, Pastor.

Register and Vote

Are you satisfied with your government? Would you like to see some changes?

Freedom is precious...why not protect your freedom. Register and vote!!

Don't take a back seat in your government. Your thoughts are very important, and your thoughts are needed at the voting booth! Everybody has power, but like electricity we need to be plugged in. So plug in and register to vote.

Voteless voices have no power - the only way you can make your opinions count is to vote. Ballot box power is people power!

A person's vote should be given as his or her personal involvement in the democratic process. It is a way of becoming active in local, state and national issues which determine future decisions that have far reaching consequences.

If you fail to register and vote, you give your freedom and power to someone else.

Pastor M.C. Connally
Eastside Baptist Church

Brother Jim Watson Plays Gospel Music

For nearly nine years, Brother Jim Watson has been bringing to Tacomans the best in spiritual and gospel music via "Early Morning Gospels".

Brother Jim is happy to announce each Sunday morning, various gospel LP's can be won by simply naming the artist(s) of various songs. So, if you enjoy choirs, quartets, instrumentals, etc., make sure you begin each Sunday morning by tuning your radio to KTNT, 1400 on the AM dial. In addition to hearing great gospel music, the work of God, church and civic announcements, dedications & requests are now part of Brother Jim's format. Highlights of news, weather and sports by Brother Jim makes "Early Morning Gospels" a very pleasurable hour. If you have not tuned in already, try it, you're guaranteed to like it.

OBITUARY

Mrs J. D. (Ola) Jones of 212 East 27th departed this life early Monday Morning, August 30th at her home in Tacoma, Washington.

She was born and raised in Montezuma, Tenn. to Willie Rowsey and Emma (Rogers) Rowley, both of whom precede her in death.

She lived in Muncie, Indiana for many years where she came to know Christ. She moved to Tacoma in 1943 where she joined God's Pentecostal Church.

She was a loving person, a good cook, a gracious hostess in her home. Her garden supplied the tables of many of her friends.

Her membership was converted to the New Covenant Pentecostal Tabernacle.

Survivors include her husband Mr. J.D. Jones of the Home. Three sisters Mrs. James (Laura) Latimer and Mrs. Mary Lou Gentry both of Tacoma, and Mrs. Howard (Beatrice) Johnson of Benton Harbor, Michigan and a host of other relatives and friends.

Back-to-School Safety Tips

As many area schools resume classes, Tacoma police officers are hoping parents will take a few suggestions on pedestrian safety to heart. Police Department School Safety Officers Lee Revelle and Lee Giles cited the need for parents to emphasize safety when taling to their offspring about returning to school.

"We place special attention on staying on sidewalks, using crosswalks and obeying the traffic signals to start with and then just using common sense when crossing any street," the officers said.

Despite constant reminders, accidents involving children enroute to or from school mar the return to school each year. Bicycle safety should receive added attention if the child is to ride to school. A quick trip with the child along the route to be used will help point out hazardous locations. Additionally, bicycles should be equipped with safety reflectors and lights if they are to be used after dark.

"We want to keep the streets safe for the children, but we can only expect so much help from them in this regard," the officers added. "By combining good driving techniques and pedestrian safety, we should see fewer accidents this year. Motorists should plan on the added foot and bicycle traffic and drive accordingly, especially at those times when children are enroute to or from school. School patrol guards are at most intersections adjacent to schools and their work helps to expand the safety of Tacoma's youth."

Department of veterens Affairs Holds Open House

The Department of Veterans Affairs will have an open house on September 15, 1976 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., in the Professional Arts Building at East 11th and South Washington, in Olympia.

The purpose of the open house will be to acquaint representatives of veterans groups and others interested in veterans affairs with the staff and location of the departmental headquarters.

The newly created department came into being on June 24, 1976 as a result of legislative action. Formerly housed in State Office Building #2, in Olympia, the staff moved to the new location on August 16.

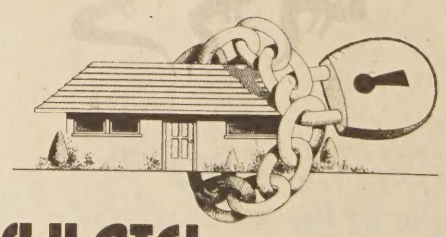
STOP THE GREAT ESCAPE!



INSULATE!

Every time you turn on the heat in your home, heat escapes through the ceiling, walls and floors if your home is not insulated or is poorly insulated. Stop the great escape! Insulate!

Rather than cost you money, good insulation in your home can cut heating costs by as much as fifty percent and can pay for itself in as little as two to three years. Think of the amount of money and energy you will save through the years and the all year round comfort your family will enjoy.

When you do insulate, it is very important to use insulation with adequate "R-Values." The higher the R number of the insulation, the greater its insulating value.

For maximum efficiency, we recommend the following R-Values:
CEILINGS — R-19
WALLS — R-11
FLOORS — R-13

For helpful advice and suggestions on how to insulate your home properly, call our Consumer Service and Conservation Office — 383-2471, extension 274. For Tacoma City Light's free booklet, "Stop the Great Escape," explaining how to insulate your home properly, write to INSULATION, Tacoma City Light, P. O. Box 11007, Tacoma, WA 98411, or call 383-2471, extension 274.
